...and landlord shuts the door in front of me, leaning on it with one hand.

"I told you! Off Limits! Are you daft?" He says incredulous.

"Sorry! I heard a creak, so I came to check it out." I raise my hands in a gesture of self-defense.

"Wait a minute- why are you here"?!"

He crosses his arms and looks upset. "To keep you in check of course." He then leaves offended. It's as if I was the one who snuck into his house in the middle of the night!

I think I hear a scream its faint but there. I go up to the door and think what could possibly go wrong. I turn the handle it's unlocked I slowly walk down the stairs. When I reach the bottom the door slams shut. I run back up and start banging on the door. It was locked as it was really my only choice I explored the basement. I saw a cell and a corpse I scream had the landlord done this is he the one that locked the door. Just then I hear a creak it's the sound of the door opening. I run to see a man it's not my landlord to my surprise. He saw me and smiled "Has another victim ignored their landlord's warnings." I froze as he backed me up into the cell. He swung the cell door closed once he had me in there. He locked me in there.
